

Albert and Albie

Hope you are doing well and that 2013 started out good (and busy!)

Thought I'd just give you some feedback on how the gardens are doing.

Over December and the holiday, as we expected, there were some hiccups in terms of people not planting, or some plants not getting sufficient water. However, despite this, some of the guys really did well over December, and at this stage everyone is underway with their gardening! I'm attaching some of the pictures which I've received over January. The lady in Rundu is doing great as you will see from the spinach on the photo!

Thanks, I've checked out the reports on the website at the link you've send. Glad that you're back online!

Have a good day.
